HelpCureHD aims to help improve the quality of life for those affected by Huntington's Disease by contributing financial, emotional, and mental support while trying to find the cure.

THE PROBLEM

There is no cure for Huntington's Disease. Currently, there is a 50/50 chance a child could inherit the disease if a parent has HD in their family line.

There is a way to stop the gene from being passed on, through in vitro fertilization, or IVF. A procedure that implants embryos that do not have the HD gene can cost upwards of $25,000 - $30,000. This treatment is the only way parents who are at risk can guarantee their biological child will be HD-free.

OUR GOALS

- Provide the finances for families who are at-risk and in financial need and are willing to undergo IVF in order to stop the HD gene from being passed on in their family line.
- Our broader focus is to continue developing partnerships with fertility clinics across the country and raising funds to help cover these costs for many more families.
- HelpCureHD has already awarded over 130 families through its grant program. That is over 130 families and future generations that will NEVER have HD.

Mike Brown enters his second season as head coach of the Sacramento Kings. In 2022-23, he led the team to the seventh-best record in the NBA and helped the Kings secure the third seed in the Western Conference, their best finish in the West since 2002-03. Brown has spearheaded one of the best offenses in NBA history with the Kings ending the season with the best offensive rating (118.6) in league history and the highest scoring average (120.7) since the 1983-84 Denver Nuggets. For his efforts, Brown became the first ever coach to be unanimously named the 2023-24 NBA Coach of the Year and elected as the Michael H. Goldberg NBCA Coach of the Year. He is the third head coach in franchise history to earn Coach of the Year honors, joining Cotton Fitzsimmons (1978-79) and Phil Johnson (1974-75).

Among league leaders in 2023-24, the Kings led the NBA in offensive efficiency and points per game while finishing second in FG% (49.4%), third in assists (27.3), fifth in 3s (1,128) and ninth in 3pt% (37.3%). Sacramento also ranked first in true shooting percentage (60.8%), second in EFG% (57.2), second in assist-to-turnover ratio (2.02), eighth in net rating (2.6) and seventh in assist percentage (62.6%). Under Brown's tutelage, Sacramento set the franchise record in scoring, 3-pointers made, road wins (25) and finished fifth in total assists (2,237).

Brown, who holds over 30-plus years of NBA coaching experience, was named head coach of the Kings on May 9, 2022 following a six-year stint as the lead assistant for the Golden State Warriors from 2016-22. In that time, Brown was a part of back-to-back titles in 2016-17 and 2017-18 while also helping guide the Warriors to the NBA Championship this past season (2021-22). He served as Golden State's acting head coach for the final three games of their semifinals meeting against the Memphis Grizzlies during the 2022 postseason, leading the Warriors to the Western Conference Finals after clinching the series in Game 6. Previously, Brown stepped up as acting head coach during Steve Kerr's absence during the 2017 NBA Playoffs as the Warriors went 11-0 during that stretch. In his final season with Golden State, Brown was primarily responsible for the Warriors defense, which finished in the top 3 in multiple defensive categories last season, including defensive efficiency (2nd) and opponent points per game (3rd), field goal percentage (2nd) and 3-point field goal percentage (3rd).

Prior to joining the Warriors, Brown held head coaching duties with the Cleveland Cavaliers (2005-10, 2013-14) and Los Angeles Lakers (2011-12). As a head coach, Brown has a career record of 347-216 (.616), which ranks as the 10th-best winning percentage in NBA history among coaches who have registered at least 500 games at the helm. Brown has led his teams to the postseason in seven of his eight full seasons as head coach with an overall record of 50-40 (.556) in the playoffs.

In his first stint with Cleveland, Brown led the Cavaliers to their first-ever NBA Finals appearance in 2007 and was named NBA Coach of the Year for the 2008-09 season after guiding the team to a franchise-record 66 wins. He led Cleveland to 50+ wins in four of his first five seasons with the club, including back-to-back 60-win campaigns in 2008-09 and 2009-10 (61).

Following a five-year run with the Cavaliers, Brown spent the 2010-11 season as an analyst for ESPN before returning to the bench as head coach of the Lakers in 2011-12. During the 2011-12 season, Brown led Los Angeles to the Pacific Division title and a 41-25 (.621) record during the lockout-shortened season. Brown returned to the helm in Cleveland for the 2013-14 season, where he eclipsed Lenny Wilkens' mark for most combined regular season and playoff victories in the franchise's history (347). He has the most playoff appearances (71) as a head coach in Cavaliers franchise history and holds the second-highest regular season winning percentage (.620).

Prior to joining Cleveland in 2005, Brown was associate head coach of the Indiana Pacers for two seasons (2003-05) after spending three years as an assistant with the San Antonio Spurs (2000-03). He was a part of the Spurs coaching staff that led the franchise to an NBA Finals title in 2003. Brown's career began with the Denver Nuggets in 1992, where he spent five seasons as a video coordinator and scout before serving as an assistant under Bernie Bickerstaff in Washington for two seasons (1997-99).

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Brown is a graduate of the University of San Diego, where he played collegiately for two seasons after spending two years as Mesa Community College. In November 2020, Brown coached the Nigeria men's national basketball team in the FIBA qualifiers in Rwanada and in August 2021, the 2020 Olympic Games in Tokyo. Prior to the Olympics, Nigeria earned a 90-87 win in an exhibition game over the United States Men's National Team on July 11, 2021, at Mandalay Bay Arena in Las Vegas. It marked the first win by an African team over the United States Men's National Team. In July 2023, Brown served as a coach for Basketball Without Borders Africa 2023, which brought together 80 boys and girls from more than 25 African counties. He helped lead campers through a variety of activations and led a development clinic for local couches while also participating in community outreach initiatives in Johannesburg and in the Alexandra Township.

He has two sons, Elijah and Cameron.

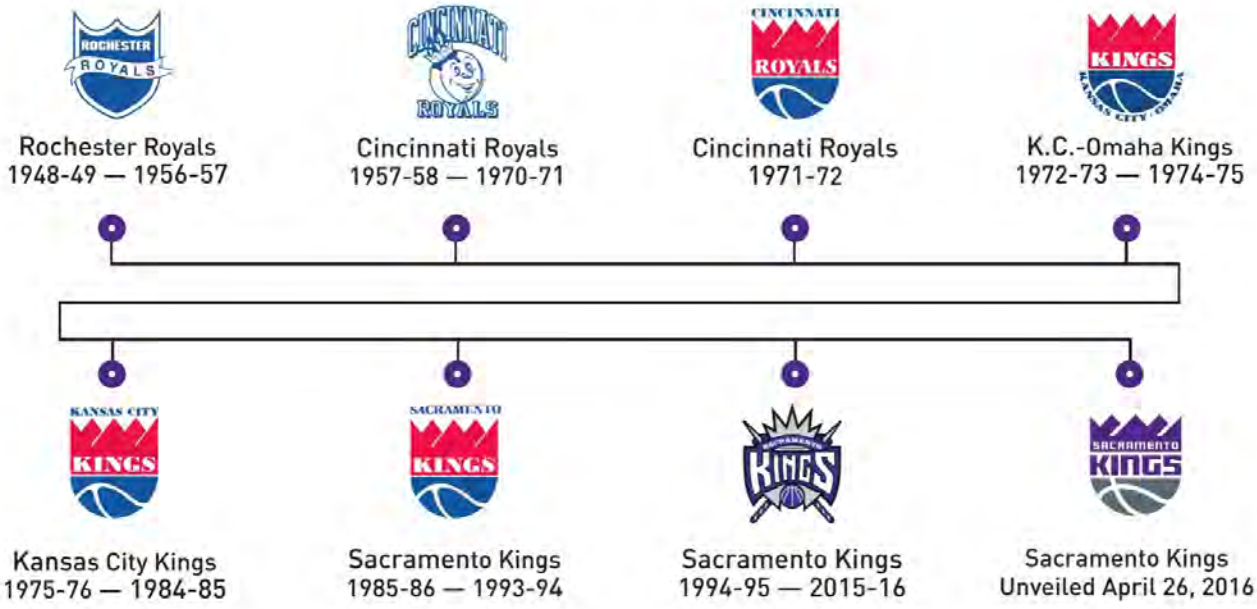
THE EVOLUTION OF THE KINGS' PRIMARY LOGO

A chronological look at the evolution of the Kings' primary logo over the franchise's 68-season history.



The Rochester National Basketball League franchise was originally nicknamed the Royals in 1946 after 15-year-old Richard Paeth's entry beat out 500 other suggestions in a name the team contest. For his winning entry, Paeth, a native of Rochester, received a $100 Victory Bond from team president/manager Les Harrison. When the franchise moved to Cincinnati before the 1957-58 campaign, the ownership decided to maintain the Royals moniker. However, when the franchise moved to Kansas City prior to the 1972-73 season, it needed a new nickname because the name Royals was already being used by the city's Major League Baseball team. Wanting to keep the "Royal" theme, the club decided on the nickname of Kings.

On May 22, 1994, the Sacramento Kings unveiled a new primary logo, home and road uniforms, and team colors. The changes marked the first major alteration from the crown and ball logo which had been the franchise's trademark since the club resided in Cincinnati.

On April 26, 2016, the Kings shared a new brand identity with fans during a special preview of Golden 1 Center, the team's future downtown home currently under construction.

"When the Kings moved to Sacramento in 1985, the city was transformed. Today, we aim to do it again," said Owner and Chairman Vivek Ranadivé. "This brand kicks off a new era for our franchise as we move into the most technologically-advanced, most environmentally-friendly arena in the world. As Sacramento becomes the next great American city, this identity honors our heritage while moving us forward."

The new primary emblem is inspired by the Kings classic logo. It is reimagined to reflect the civic and franchise pride that has lasted and grown for a generation. Now, with a clean, modern look – a reshaped crown, refined basketball and new typeface that puts Sacramento front and center – the new identity draws from the team's ambitious beginnings and reminds our region and the world that Sacramento is undergoing a transformation.

Each of the team's new insignia are designed to connect to the elements that define the Sacramento Kings: Our City. Our Pride. Our Foundation.

The secondary logo featuring the lion, pays tribute to the unmatched pride and loyalty of the NBA's best fans. The "Sac" badge is dedicated to the bold and unwavering devotion the Kings organization has for its city. A new crown logo reflects the rich tradition of the team dating back to its origins, reminding the fanbase and the community of Sacramento that, "we are all Kings." The heralding lion crest represents leadership and strength and will be used as the Kings work to make basketball the premier global sport of the 21st century.

NATE ARCHIBALD: Nate "Tiny" Archibald played six of his 13 NBA seasons with the Kings franchise. Selected by the Cincinnati Royals in the second round of the 1970 NBA Draft, Archibald starred in six NBA All-Star Games. The 6-1, 180 guard posted his best season in 1972-73, averaging a career-best 34.0 ppg and 11.4 apg, becoming the only player in NBA history to lead the league in both scoring and assists. Archibald was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1991.

MITCH RICHMOND: Mitch Richmond became the first player in Sacramento-era history to have his jersey retired (December 5, 2003). Richmond ranks among the top five in franchise history in points, field goals made and attempted, free throws made and attempted, free throw percentage, steals, three-pointers made and attempted, and three-point field goal percentage. He became the first Sacramento King to be named to the All-Star Game, and earned the All-Star MVP award in 1995 after tallying 23 points in 22 minutes off the bench. Also while with Sacramento, Richmond represented the United States in the 1996 Olympics, winning a gold medal. On August 8, 2014, Richmond was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

CHRIS WEBBER: One of the most talented forwards to ever don a Kings jersey, Chris Webber helped the Kings reach the NBA Playoffs in six straight seasons (1998-99 - 2003-04), earn two back-to-back Pacific Division titles (2001-02, 2002-03) and record a franchise record 61 regular season wins in 2001-02. Acquired from Washington in exchange for Mitch Richmond and Otis Thorpe on May 14, 1998, Webber recorded 51 points and 26 rebounds on January 5, 2001 versus Indiana, both Sacramento-era single-game records. As a King, Webber was a four-time NBA All-Star and a five-time All-NBA Team selection. He averaged 23.5 ppg, 10.6 rpg, 4.8 apg, 1.51 spg and 1.47 bpg in 377 games with Sacramento. His jersey was lifted to the rafters on February 6, 2009 (Kings vs. Utah).

6TH MAN (THE FANS): The No. 6 jersey was retired to acknowledge the support of the Kings fans. The Kings have two of the highest consecutive sellout streaks in NBA history. A sellout streak of 497 games still stands as the fourth-longest sellout streak in NBA history. The milestone streak began on opening night in 1985, the first season the Kings played in Sacramento, and ended after the second game of the 1997-98 season. From November 26, 1999, to April 18, 2007, the Kings sold out 354 straight home contests, ranking eighth on the NBA's all-time sellout list. The team sold out every home game in the Golden 1 Center's opening season.

BOBBY DAVIES: Bobby Davies, known as the Harrisburg Houdini, played all 10 of his NBA seasons with the Rochester Royals (1945-46 - 1954-55). His two free throws in the final 40 seconds of regulation broke a 75-75 tie in the seventh and deciding game of the 1951 NBA Finals against New York, helping give the franchise its first and only NBA Championship. The four-time All-Star averaged 16.2 ppg, 2.9 rpg, and 6.0 apg in his best statisical season in 1951-52. A 6-1, 175 guard, Davies was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1969.

MAURICE STOKES: The 6-7, 240 forward played all three of his seasons for the franchise, playing his first two seasons with Rochester (1955-56 - 1956-57) and his last with Cincinnati (1957-58). In his first season, Stokes was named NBA Rookie of the Year and was named to the All-NBA Second Team after posting team-highs of 16.8 ppg (11th in NBA), 16.3 rpg (2nd in NBA), and 4.9 apg (9th in NBA). An All-Star in all three seasons, Stokes averaged 16.4 ppg, 17.3 rpg, and 5.3 apg in 202 career games. His brillant career was cut short when he was diagnosed with post-traumatic encephalopathy (brain injury damaging motor-control center) after a fall suffered three days earlier in a game against the Minneapolis Lakers (3/12/58).

OSCAR ROBERTSON: Known as the Big O, Oscar Robertson displayed an uncanny all-around game, finishing his 12-year NBA career with 25.7 ppg, 7.5 rpg, and 9.5 apg in 1,040 career games. He played 10 of his 14 NBA seasons with the Cincinnati Royals. His best season came in 1961-62 when the 6-5, 210 guard became the first player in NBA history to average a triple double for a season - 30.8 ppg, 12.5 rpg, 11.4 apg. He averaged 30 or more points in six of his first seven seasons in the league and 10 or more assists in five of his first seven seasons. Robertson, who led the league in assists in six seasons, ranks among the NBA's all-time leaders in scoring (10th), assists (6th), and points (12th). The 12-time All-Star was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1979.

PEJA STOJAKOVIC: Drafted by the Kings in the first round (14th overall) of the 1996 NBA Draft, Peja Stojakovic went on to play 13 NBA seasons, eight with Sacramento, and finished his career as a three-time NBA All-Star, NBA Champion (2011 Dallas Mavericks) and the Kings' franchise leader in three-pointers made (1,070) and attempted (2,687) and free throw percentage (.893). He ranks in the top 10 in NBA history in several categories, including fifth in career free throw percentage (.895), 18th in three-pointers made (1,760), and tied for eighth with Steve Nash in playoff free throw percentage (.900). His #16 jersey was retired on December 16, 2014, during halftime of the Kings-Thunder game.

VLADE DIVAC: Known for his craftiness on the court and his generosity off of it, Vlade Divac signed with the Kings as a free agent on January 22, 1999. Divac helped the Kings reach the NBA Playoffs in six straight seasons (1998-99 - 2003-04) while capturing two back-to-back Pacific Division titles (2001-02, 2002-03) and a franchise record 61 regular season wins in 2001-02. An All-Star in 2001, Divac played six of his 16 NBA seasons with the Kings, averaging 13.2 ppg, 7.8 rpg, 3.7 apg and 1.15 bpg in 454 games with Sacramento. He is one of 15 players in NBA history to amass 13,000 points, 9,000 rebounds and 1,500 blocks in a career. His jersey was retired on March 31, 2009 (Kings vs. New Orleans).

JACK TWYMAN: A 6-6 guard from Cincinnati, Jack Twyman played all 11 of his NBA seasons with the Kings franchise, two coming in Rochester (1955-56 and 1956-57) and the other nine seasons (1957-58 - 1965-66) in his hometown. Twyman averaged 14 or more points in his first 10 seasons and averaged 31.2 ppg, 8.9 rpg, and 3.5 apg during the 1959-60 regular season. In 1958-59, Twyman ranked second in the league in scoring, posting a 25.8 scoring average. Twyman twice scored 50 or more points in his career, including a 59-point performance versus Minneapolis (1/15/60), which still remains as the Kings' franchise single-game scoring record. Among franchise career leaders, Twyman ranks second in points (15,840), field goals made (6,237) and attempted (13,873), and free throws made (3,366) and attempted (4,325). The Hall of Fame inducted the six-time All-Star guard in 1982.

SAM LACEY: Sam Lacey, a 6-10, 235 pound forward out of New Mexico State, played 11 of his 13 NBA seasons with the Kings franchise. The first selection of the Royals in the 1970 NBA Draft, Lacey averaged a double-double in points and rebounds in his first six seasons in the league. Lacey stands as the franchise leader in games played (888) and rebounds (9,353). He ranks in second in minutes played (29,991), fifth in points (9,895) and fourth in field goals made (4,101) and field goals attempted (9,280).
